Neighborhood Healthcare - San Diego, CA

Neighborhood HealthCare is dedicated to improving the lives of families in Southern California. The award-winning, non-profit healthcare system, founded in 1969, delivers prenatal, pediatric, behavioral and primary health services to 65,000 plus patients annually.

Seeking to improve and expand services, Director Tracy Ream engaged MPA Architects of San Diego to convert a dormant, 11,000 square foot strip mall into an advanced prenatal and pediatric health clinic. Ms. Ream envisioned a facility where young mothers and families could avail themselves of critical health services vital to the early developmental stages of family.

The ever-changing nature of patient care and medical practices, coupled with the patient volume of Neighborhood HealthCare, challenged the architects to create a facility with exceptional flexibility and durability. They recommended Olpin Group for the functional workroom interiors, citing its modular, flexible design and lifetime warranty.

Ream and Amber Wesley (MPA Architects) contacted their Olpin Group representative, Brian D'Asaro of Olpin Group, and scheduled a meeting to learn more about the product. "I was really impressed with Olpin Group's flexibility to support our clinic's needs... and the exceptional product durability", said Ream. "And we were totally happy to learn of the product and manufacturer's "Green" compliances. We are environmentally conscious here and it is a priority to support sustainable practices."

"Brian and the professionals at Olpin Group were great! They consulted our staff, analyzed our space and needs, and coordinated with our architect to provide effective layouts for our labs, exam rooms, nurse's stations, procedure rooms, case management stations and other functional work interiors. Their 3D CAD illustrations made it easy for us to understand each layout and enabled us to ensure we got exactly what we wanted and needed," said Tracy.

"We selected Olpin Group's "bactericidal surfacing" to help prevent the spread of staph, MRSA, pneumonia and other problematic germs. We really like its beautiful finish and tactile feel... and knowing that it is improving our clinical hygiene," commented Ream.

"Words can barely express how pleased we are with our Olpin Group and with Olpin Group's total dedication in supporting our clinic's needs. And, we were genuinely shocked to learn that Olpin Group actually cost less than the regular millwork we had used before!" exclaimed Ream.

Neighborhood HealthCare moved into their newest facility this Spring and realized the next step in their vision of delivering an elevated level of life improving health services to their growing community.
